Written consent in accordance to GDPR (General Data Protection Regulation; EU)

Explanatory notes

Due to the GDPR some administrative steps are necessary for associations holding competitions. Due to stricter data protection regulations and higher penalties and warnings we need to address this topic in more detail.

To make sure that organizers, hosts and athletes aren't affected by more paperwork we have chosen this concept to minimize effort.

Personal data collected in this registration like name, address, gender, citizenship, email address, telephone number are only used for the purpose of participation in a competition and the contract necessary according to legal regulation.

AIDA Germany is a national association for competitions and a member of AIDA International. It lies in the nature of the competitions to create lists of the results and publicize them.

These lists contain the following personal data:

Last name, first name, gender and citizenship as well as the performance and result (white, yellow, red).

This data is competition data.

Personal data will only be given to third parties, if it is necessary for fulfilling the contract.

According to the rules of competition, video recordings of the performance are made. It is impossible to opt out of this.

Third parties are:

- AIDA International
This only applies to members of AIDA National
- Organizer/hosts of competitions
- Through the publication of results on our homepage and Facebook others can access the results.

The declaration of consent for AIDA Germany consists of two parts

- Data necessary for the participation and the rating which are obligatory as otherwise the contract would be void. This consists of written data like the list of results and video recordings which might be publicized.
In this case an opt-out is only possible for the video recording.
- Further data that can be published on a voluntary basis, such as the publication of video recordings, images on the platforms of AIDA International or AIDA Germany (YouTube, Facebook, Homepage, Forum). Contact by AIDA Germany at further competitions or events.

Pictures, film footage and reports by journalists are subject to other specifications. Art. 85 GDPR (freedom of communication) places this regulation within the tasks of the states.

In Germany, the highest regulating paragraph of Art. 5 Para. 1 of the Grundgesetz (freedom of expression; freedom of the press) and the in-depth Regulation is mainly based on the Federal Data Protection Act (§28) and the Interstate Broadcasting Treaty (§57). Keyword media privilege.

AIDA Deutschland is not responsible for media representatives, their actions and publications, as long as they do not violate domestic law.

For any other information than that described in this form, the following shall apply

The use of personal data and the collection of additional information always requires the consent of the data subject.

Declarations of consent can be changed or revoked at any time and without giving reasons.

Due to the obligation to provide proof, the complete revocation is made informally by e-mail.

The declaration of consent form can be downloaded here without specific reference to a competition registration.

In order to keep the administrative burden as low as possible and to comply with the data minimization requirement, the Declarations of consent from AIDA Germany permanent for Competitions organized by AIDA Germany and AIDA International.

The athletes of AIDA Deutschland e. V. can prove their consent by an entry in their membership card. The declarations of consent issued are noted on this.

The storage of the written declarations of consent for AIDA Deutschland members takes place permanently and in electronic form.

This applies to all competitions and does not have to be completed again for each competition.

Unless the change or revocation of consent by the athlete is requested in a competition or in advance. Changes and revocations apply exclusively to the future and are not retroactive.

The storage of the declarations of consent of Non AIDA Germany members takes place for 12 months and is deleted afterwards. The reason for this is the obligation on the part of the organiser to provide evidence of the consent for at least 12 months.

So that non-members of AIDA Germany do not have to fill out the declaration of consent again for every competition in Germany, they can agree to the validity of the consent for the duration of the competition year.

This also applies to AIDA members from other countries, as long as they do not have a comparable system, as it comes with AIDA Germany to the application.

The deletion will then not take place 12 months after the declaration of consent has been given, but 12 months after the last competition in which the athlete took part.
